Doctor of Ministry Degree Program of Study Worksheet 2005-2006

The Professional Ministries Study Program is an education option for religious leaders/ clergy who seek to reflect on their practice of ministry.

Students work with their faculty advisor to design a 12-credit program suited to their educational objectives by taking courses offered as elective in Hartford Seminary's Doctor of Ministry program.

Credits earned while enrolled in the Professional Ministries Study program can be counted toward the Doctor of Ministry degree if a student later decides to pursue that degree and is admitted to the program.

For students who contemplate applying to the Doctor of Ministry degree program, it is recommended that the following D.Min. degree elective course requirements inform course decisions (note the D.Min. degree program requires completion of six elective courses – 18 credits).

- Four of the six elective courses must be in different core/topic areas;
- One of the six elective courses must be in a faith tradition other than the student's own, or an interfaith or dialogue course
